OVER SCORE KILLED IN CHARLESTON WHEN STRUCK BY TORNADO

Storm of a Minute Injures Hundreds and Blocks Streets With Wreckage—Property Damage Amounts to Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars—Whole City in Confusion

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 29 (AP).—A raging tornado dipped furiously into Charleston early today, killing at least twenty-five persons, injuring between 200 and 300, and damaging hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property.

Hours after the destructive twister struck, searchers dug into the ruins of wrecked buildings, and it was feared additional bodies would be recovered.

Hospitals listed fifty-three victims seriously hurt. Others were given first aid for comparatively minor injuries.

CITY IN CONFUSION
This historic city was thrown into confusion as the storm, which lasted scarcely a minute, broke down power and communication facilities, and blocked streets with uprooted trees, poles and dangerous live wires.

Two companies of National Guardsmen were mobilized hastily to aid civilian authorities in handling the situation. They later were augmented by soldiers from nearby Fort Moultrie and Marines from the Navy Yard, instructed by President Roosevelt to make their services available.

MUNICH CHEERS MAN OF PEACE

German Men and Women Gather in Crowds to Honor Chamberlain

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 29 (AP).—The men and women of Adolf Hitler's beloved Munich stood cheerfully for hours today for a glimpse of the sixty-nine-year-old man who started this business of man-to-man talks for peace.

That man was Prime Minister Chamberlain, a strange figure in black amid the patriotic panorama of this cradle of Nazism.

Most men who stood and waited and cheered wore a swastika lapel button. Most women wore of the handsome, well-turned-out sort of which Munich is proud.

They passed in front of the old-fashioned Regia Palace Hotel, headquarters of the British delegation to the four-power conference.

REAL CHEERS
There were real cheers, like the kind heard in a football stadium of a Saturday afternoon, when the slim, black-coated Chamberlain with a smile and a careful walk, came out.

There were Hitler salutes, it is true, but there was also a note of the kind heard anywhere people are glad.

After Mr. Chamberlain drove away in the afternoon for the Fuehrerhaus Peace Conference the same people stood into the night, joking and waiting. They were still waiting when the Prime Minister came downstairs again for the third meeting with Hitler, Premier Mussolini and Premier Daladier of France.

Then there was a thunder of "hoops" which must have reached all the way down the line of guards on both sides of the street leading from the hotel to the Fuehrerhaus.

Downstairs a dance band was blaring that all-English rage of the year, "The Lambeth Walk," while Bavarian dancers linked arms and shouted the Cockney "oys."

Cabinet Retains Normal Schedule
OTTAWA, Sept. 29 (AP).—News of the peaceful progress of negotiations in Munich today, indicating the possibility that war may be averted, brought relief to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues who have been facing the possibility of having to call Parliament to decide Canada's part in a world conflict.

Pending outcome of the four-power conference, the Prime Minister refrained from comment on the day's developments. No Cabinet council was called and none is scheduled until the regular weekly session next Tuesday.

News of Munich Accord Joyfully Heard in Britain

Agreement Ends Terrific Tension as Nation Makes Ready in Event of War—Preparations Continue Steadily While Conferees Sit—Great Deal of Costly Work to Be Undone Gladly

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Britons, joyfully greeting an assured peace, today faced the task of undoing war preparations that cost many millions of pounds—but they did not care about the money.

FRANCE KEEPS TROOPS READY

General Organization for Emergency Being Kept Intact at Present

PARIS, Sept. 29 (AP).—The French Government today set under way wartime organization of the country while awaiting final decision of the Munich conference on peace and war in Europe.

A decree published in the official journal authorized execution of the July 11 law on "general organization of the nation for time of war."

A series of decrees now could mobilize all military and civilian services.

Government officials indicated the action was taken largely as a precaution against any turn for the worse in Europe after the Munich negotiations.

FRENCH FINANCE HIT
The continuing crisis over Czechoslovakia has dealt a blow to French finance, although the franc improved today. It fell as low as 38.90 to the United States dollar yesterday, but rallied on news of the Munich conference, closing officially at 37.55.

Police meanwhile questioned 4,000 persons, mostly foreigners, in the capital in a drive against undesirable aliens, arresting forty-five.

Some Reservations
The Government this morning announced it had agreed in principle, with some reservations, to a British proposal for gradual application of the French-British plan to cede Sudetenland to Germany.

The Czechoslovak minister to Berlin carried the Government's stand to the Munich conferees by airplane.

Opinion in Prague was that whatever was decided between the four-power leaders, there could be no doubt that Czechoslovakia would be the loser.

Eight Weeks Overdue on Boat Cruise

TORONTO, Sept. 29 (AP).—A jobless widower and three of his children were reported today eight weeks overdue on a long, leisurely cruise of Newfoundland in a boat built of odds and ends and powered with a 35-secondhand engine.

John Osmond, sixteen, said today there had been no news of his father, his sister, and his two brothers, since they left Eskimo Point, on Anticosti Island, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about two months ago.

WORLD REPRIEVE FROM THREATENED WAR SIGNED BY HEADS OF FOUR GREAT POWERS

Text of Official Statement Issued After Conference

MUNICH, Sept. 30 (AP).—The official communique issued at the end of the four-power conference follows: Germany, the United Kingdom, France and Italy, taking into consideration the agreement which has already been reached in principle for cession to Germany of the Sudeten German territory, have agreed on the following terms and conditions governing the said cession and the measures consequent thereon and by this agreement they each hold themselves responsible for the steps necessary to secure its fulfillment:

First—The evacuation will begin on October 1.

Second—The United Kingdom, France and Italy agree that the evacuation of the territory shall be completed by October 10 without any existing installations having been destroyed and that the Czechoslovak Government will be held responsible for carrying out the evacuation—without damage to the said installations.

INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION
The conditions governing the evacuation will be laid down in detail by an international commission composed of representatives of Germany, the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Czechoslovakia.

Occupation by stages of the predominantly German territories by German troops will begin on October 1. The four territories marked on the attached map will be occupied by German troops in the following order:

Territory marked No. 1, on the first and second of October; territory marked No. 2, on the second and third of October; territory marked No. 3, on the third, fourth and fifth of October; territory marked No. 4, on the sixth and seventh of October.

The remaining territory of preponderantly German character will be ascertained by the aforesaid international commission forthwith and be occupied by German troops by the tenth of October.

PLEBISCITE BEFORE NOVEMBER 30
The international commission referred to in Paragraph 3 will determine the territories in which a plebiscite is to be held. These territories will be occupied by international bodies until the plebiscite has been completed. The same commission will fix the conditions in which the plebiscite is to be held, taking as a basis the conditions of the Saar plebiscite. The commission will also fix a date, not later than the end of November, on which the plebiscite will be held.

There will be right of option into and out of transferred territories, the option to be exercised within six months from the date of this agreement.

The German-Czechoslovak commission shall determine details of option, consider ways for facilitating the transfer of population and settle questions of principle arising out of the said transfer.

DETERMINATION OF NEW FRONTIERS
The final determination of the frontiers will be carried out by the international commission. This commission will also be entitled to recommend to the four powers, Germany, the United Kingdom, France and Italy, in certain exceptional cases minor modifications in strictly ethnographical determination of the zones which are to be transferred without plebiscite.

The Czechoslovak Government will within the period of four weeks from the date of this agreement release from their military and police forces any Sudeten Germans who may wish to be released and the Czechoslovak Government will within the same period release Sudeten German prisoners who are serving terms of imprisonment for political offences.

ANNEX TO THE AGREEMENT
His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the French Government have entered into the above agreement on the basis that they stand by the offer, contained in Paragraph 6 of the Anglo-French proposals of September 19 relating to an international guarantee of the new boundaries of the Czechoslovak state against unprovoked aggression.

When the question of Polish and Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia has been settled, Germany and Italy, for their part, will give a guarantee to Czechoslovakia.

The heads of the Governments of the four powers declare that problems of Polish and Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia if not settled within three months by agreement between the respective Governments shall form the subject of another meeting of the heads of Governments of the four powers here present.

SUPPLEMENTARY DECLARATION
All questions which may arise out of the transfer of territory shall be considered as coming within the terms of reference to the international commission.

Seeks Permit To Bring in B.C. Shingles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP).—Shortage of shingles in New England's storm-torn areas led Senator Loneragan (Democrat, Connecticut) to ask President Roosevelt today to permit importation of shingles from British Columbia. Loneragan's aides said wholesale dealers in Connecticut complained they were unable to obtain supplies from Oregon and Washington. They estimated there was a shortage of one hundred carloads.

Must Pay Taxes On Lost Homes

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP).—Long Island residents whose homes were destroyed or swept out to sea in last week's hurricane will have to pay real estate taxes on them just the same. Alfred Snyder, clerk of the Brookhaven town board of assessors, explained the law provides reductions cannot be made unless the buildings are razed by June 1.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29 (AP).—Mr. Justice C. P. Fullerton, former chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, today was reported seriously ill with an ailment which affected him early this summer.

Agreement Reached at Munich Conference by Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy Is Handed to Czechoslovakian Government Under Strong Pressure of Acceptance

German Troops to Occupy Four Areas of Sudetenland

MUNICH, Sept. 30 (CP).—An agreement was signed here early today by Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany designed to end the Czechoslovak-German crisis and give the world reprieve from war.

In general terms this agreement provided for occupation by Germany of the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia, starting tomorrow, and final determination of the republic's new boundaries by a commission representing the four powers and Czechoslovakia.

In addition to the areas to be occupied immediately, plebiscites to determine future sovereignty will be held in other areas under conditions set by the international commission.

POPE CALLS FOR PRAYER

Broadcasts Appeal to World's Faith at Time of It's Great Crisis

CASTEL GONDOLFO, Sept. 29 (AP).—Pope Pius XI invited the world's faith tonight to unite "in the most undaunted and insistent prayer for the preservation in justice and in charity of the peace."

The eighty-one-year-old Pontiff spoke in a pastoral message over an intercontinental hookup from his private library in his summer palace at Castel Gandolfo.

As he appealed for prayer, an anxious world awaited outcome of the momentous four-power deliberations in Munich over the German-Czechoslovak dispute.

He called for prayers to preserve peace at a time when, he said, "millions of men are living in dread because of the imminent danger of war and because of the threat of unexampled slaughter and ruin."

"UNARMED BUT INVINCIBLE"
"To this unarmed but invincible power of prayer," he said, "let people have recourse once yet again to that God, in whose hands rest the destinies of the world, may sustain especially in those who govern confidence in the pacific ways of faithful negotiations and of lasting agreements."

The Pontiff did not mention Czechoslovakia, but remarked about the coincidence of his message with the feast yesterday of the martyr St. Wenceslaus, patron saint of Bohemia.

Pope Pius offered his own life "for the salvation and for the peace of the world."

Or, he said, if the world willed it, "let him prolong still further the laborious days of the afflicted and worried toilers."

DIES IN TRAIN WRECK
WINTER, Sask., Sept. 29 (AP).—Brakeman Curtis Warnstaff, of Biggar, Sask., was fatally injured here today when a Canadian National Railway freight train ploughed into the rear of a fruit train. Warnstaff, in the caboose of the fruit train—which stopped to take on coal, was taken to hospital at Unity, where he died.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS

JAPANESE PREMIER TAKES OVER POST
TOKIO, Sept. 30 (AP).—Premier Fumimaro Konoye today took over the post of Foreign Minister in his own Cabinet, following the resignation of General Katsushige Ugaki as a result of conflict over Japanese policy in China. A month's disagreement within the Cabinet over the extent of army and navy control of affairs in China had preceded Ugaki's resignation.

INSURGENTS SPOIL GIBRALTAR WAR TEST
GIBRALTAR, Sept. 29 (AP).—Spanish insurgent searchlights spoiled two urgent Gibraltar blackouts tonight. When the signals were given, all lights on the island and in the port were darkened, but almost immediately batteries of insurgent lights on Carmo Point, south of nearby Algeiras, flashed on and lighted up the entire block.

GERMAN MERCHANT SHIPPING ORDERED RESUMED
NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP).—Resumption of German merchant shipping after a tie-up that confused all ocean traffic during the European crisis, was ordered tonight. Cable advised that the liner Europa, which had returned to Bremerhaven on an ocean around order sent by radio, again had sailed for the United States. The German liners, comprising the fifth-ranking merchant marine power, hastened homeward from all foreign ports in the darkest hours of the crisis.

CHEMICAL TEST FOR DRINKING DRIVERS
VANCOUVER, Sept. 29 (AP).—Proposals to make provision in the Criminal Code for use of chemical tests to determine if motorists involved in traffic accidents have been drinking, will be placed shortly before the Minister of Justice, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, at the request of Alderman Fred Cronin, it was learned tonight. The suggestions, now being drafted, will be transmitted to Mr. Lapointe by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence.

rubber and wood smoke and make the face sweat.

Sound trucks blared requests for volunteers of over thirty-five to enlist in air raid precaution corps as stretcher-bearers.

All day yesterday airplanes flew over London towing signs reading: "Join Your Local A.R.P. Join Your Local A.P.S. (Auxiliary Fire Service)." During the day Sir Kingsley Wood, made a lightning tour of all Royal Air Force stations, where fleets of silver-grey bombers and pursuit ships were lined up in fighting trim.

News of the agreement came too late for official reaction. Friday newspapers said "It's Peace" with varying degrees of enthusiasm.

INTEREST IN WAGING
The preparedness programme officially continued unabated, but there was an obvious slackening of public interest even yesterday.

Londoners wondered how long men would go on digging up parks for air raid shelters, and when anti-aircraft volunteers and naval reservists would be released to return to civilian jobs.

Besides the huge expense to the public treasury in preparedness measures—already estimated at £40,000,000—the war scare cost the average Briton money for picks and shovels, for canned goods stored against emergencies, for black paint and air raid black-out blinds, and for other precautions.

MAY NOW CURE DREAD DISEASE

British Medical Man Reports Discovery for Treatment Of Pneumonia

OTTAWA, Sept. 29 (C.P.)—Pneumonia, "king of diseases," may be conquered through a new laboratory product developed through experiments with sulphathiazole, Sir Edward Mellanby, secretary of the Medical Research Council of Great Britain, said in a Canadian Club address here today. The new product is called M and B 693.

"All work on it has indicated a specific curative effect on pneumonia," he said. "It will not cure all cases because most patients come to the doctor only when near death."

Experiments show that in 100 cases studied twenty-seven untreated patients died. Only eight treated ones died, and of these, six died in the first week before the drug could demonstrate its curative power.

NEW INVESTIGATIONS
Sir Edward said sulphathiazole had almost revolutionized medicine. It set forth a torrent of investigation that opened up the whole treatment of bacterial disease. Sulphathiazole's forerunner, protosil, opened a field so wide that the end, or control, of some ravaging diseases was in sight.

"Within measurable time we will see the end, or complete control, of killing diseases in early or middle life," he predicted. The average age of persons in the world would increase and an increase in chronic diseases of senility might be expected. On the other hand new measures might be found to battle these.

"Experience has shown that whatever problem can be formulated in the human mind can be solved," he said.

SCORE KILLED IN CHARLESTON STORM

In Washington the President directed the War and Navy Departments and the Works Progress Administration to render all possible aid.

LANDMARKS DAMAGED
Many of Charleston's landmarks, known to thousands of tourists, were damaged. Included were St. Michael's Episcopal Church, and St. Philip's Church, both of which date to pre-revolutionary times, and the quaint little Huguenot Church, only one of its denomination in the United States.

Also damaged was the Dock Street Theatre, one of the country's oldest; the ancient City Market Building and the historic City Hall.

Meteorologist J. E. Lockwood said apparently three separate tornadoes struck this area within a few minutes. It was the second that did the damage in the city proper. This twister developed a wind velocity of seventy-two miles an hour, just three less than standard hurricane force.

TOO MUCH MUSIC
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29 (C.P.)—There are a lot of reasons for quitting school. Lack of money is the most frequent, a Federal youth survey underway here indicated today, but there are others. The most forceful reason was that of a boy who left because he "broke a clarinet over teacher's head."

Sleeping Sickness Traced to Horses

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (C.P.)—The Rockefeller Institute today announced an outbreak of human sleeping sickness in southwestern Massachusetts had been traced to horses.

This is the first time horses have been definitely implicated as causes of human encephalitis. The horses in southwestern Massachusetts have been dying of encephalomyelitis, well-known animal disease, resembling human sleeping sickness, but not heretofore known to be the same.

The horse disease is caused by a virus of the same kind found in the brains of five children who died of sleeping sickness in the horse disease area.

LOSSES ACTION OVER DIONNES
Promoter Spear Fails to Produce Evidence in Million-Dollar Suit

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (C.P.)—Promoter Ivan I. Spear lost out in Federal Court today in his attempt to collect $1,000,000 damages for alleged breach of a contract to exploit the Dionne quintuplets, of Callander, Ont.

Judge John P. Barnes instructed the jury which began hearing the case on Tuesday to find no conspiracy by Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe, the quintuplets' physician, and three other defendants to breach the contract on the ground evidence did not support that allegation.

The case ended without testimony by the defendants.

LACK OF EVIDENCE
Judge Barnes, in his ruling, said: "I think there is a complete absence of evidence—not even, to my mind, a scintilla of evidence—that the defendants Krege, Woolworth, and Dufoe conspired to do anything."

With regard to Dr. Dufoe, the court said: "I do not find in the record any evidence of his having conspired with anyone to cause Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, to breach his contract with Spear."

Spear alleged Pathe news reels of the quintuplets exhibited throughout the nation and a pictorial book about them sold in Krege and Woolworth stores violated his contract.

Forty Killed by Japanese Planes
HANOT, French Indo-China, Sept. 29 (C.P.-Havas).—Forty persons were killed when nine Japanese planes dropped forty bombs on the Chinese city of Yunnanfu, capital of Yunnan Province, advices reaching here said today. One of the machines, apparently allied to a Japanese aircraft-carrier off the island of Hainan, was reported to have crashed in flames after the raid.

What dry-cleaning firm in Victoria had the confidence to submit its plant and processes to such thorough inspection and impartial investigation?

THE PROTOCOL OF PEACE

The war clouds that lowered over Europe have been dissipated in the atmosphere of the discussion at Munich. A protocol, the terms of which appear in today's issue, has been issued by the four Powers, whose representatives spent so many hours yesterday reaching a settlement. What is known as the Munich area is being ceded to the Reich, with stipulations regarding the transfer, and the Polish and Hungarian minority questions, in Czechoslovakia are to be settled within three months under the aegis of an international commission. What remains of Czechoslovakia is to be guaranteed by Great Britain and France. The State is saved from invasion, and it may be that what has been accomplished at Munich will, for the time being, save other small States of Central Europe from any further threats of aggression. It is true that Herr Hitler has achieved what he set out ostensibly to accomplish, but he has been saved from warlike enterprises. There is little doubt that he realized at the eleventh hour that any act of aggression would have incurred the active enmity of the Powers, and those that possess far greater resources in man-power and materials than Germany could have commanded herself, or through the aid of her allies.

The spirit that prevailed at the Munich gathering was one of harmony throughout, the representatives of the four Powers having foregathered with the express purpose of finding a peaceful solution of the Sudeten problem. Not since the Armistice of November 11, 1918, has such a sigh of relief gone up throughout the world. It is true that it remains for Czechoslovakia to accept in full the terms of the protocol, but that is a matter that is likely to be arranged through the offices of France and Great Britain. In a measure, those terms are humiliating to that State, but at least she will know that her strength to resist any aggression in the future is reinforced by a written Anglo-French guarantee.

A brief forty-eight hours ago war seemed inevitable, and such a war as humanity has never before known. Today the outlook has changed entirely; diplomacy has triumphed in the cause of peace. How much the Germans themselves want peace was illustrated by the magnificent reception accorded to Mr. Neville Chamberlain at Munich. He has been the hero of the historic gathering in the eyes of all, friends and potential enemies alike. As the spokesman of Great Britain, and of that country and of France as well as Bertschegaden and Godesberg, he has been the individual mainspring of the settlement now reached.

Through Mr. Chamberlain, Great Britain's prestige in the sphere of international affairs has been enhanced. He spoke for a Britain re-armed, stronger than ever in the past, and therefore the better able to make its voice felt in the councils of the nations. The protocol of peace arising out of the Munich conference may prove the nucleus of a concert of the Powers concerned to preserve the peace of the future as it affects some of the most dangerous areas in Europe. If that is the case, the world will be given a sense of security that it has not enjoyed for some decades.

WATER RATES

The City has been conducting an investigation into electric service charges. It could extend its energies in this particular to consider rates that apply for water, which are a matter within civil jurisdiction and in which there is a need of reduction. It is claimed that the rates here are based on a standard rate of computing minimum charges drawn up by the American Waterworks Association. Since so many different conditions affecting water supply and distribution prevail in so many places there are local considerations that should enter into costs to the consumer.

One of the most inequitable practices followed here is the differentiation in rates that apply as between a half-inch, a three-quarter-inch and a one-inch connection. For the former the minimum rate is $1 a month, for the three-quarter-inch, $1.40 per month, and for a one-inch, $2 a month. The explanation given is wholly feeble. It is that better pressure is obtained by three-quarter and one-inch pipes, which of course is true, but people should only have to pay for the water they use, irrespective of the character of the connection. They pay at the beginning for the installation—$15 for the half-inch connection; $20 for the three-quarter-inch; and $25 for the one-inch. Why should they be mulcted further for the connections that give the greater pressure, either at the rate of $4.80 a year or $12 a year, when they may not use any more water than if they had the half-inch connection? There is no logical argument that can justify this discrimination. Those who have once paid for their connections should only pay thereafter for the actual water they use at the rate for gallonage or cubic feet as may be determined.

The Victoria and Esquimalt rate for water is, in the first place, for the half-inch connection, a minimum charge of $1 per month, and then 10 cents per 100 cubic feet, up to the first 6,000 cubic feet; then at the rate of 9 cents per 100 feet for the next 60,000 feet, and 8 cents per 100 feet for consumption over 66,000 cubic feet. In Saanich for the first 2,000 gallons or any portion thereof the bill is $2.78 per month, with a discount of 28 cents allowed if the bill is paid within fifteen days of presentation. For over 2,000 gallons and up to 4,000 gallons the bill is $3.10, with a discount of 30 cents; for over 4,000 gallons and up to 6,000 gallons the bill is $3.34, with a discount of 34 cents. For over 6,000 gallons and up to 10,000 gallons there is a rate of 20 cents per thousand gallons charged, and for 10,000 gallons and up to 20,000 gallons, a charge of 15 cents per thousand gallons, with a discount of 10 per cent. For over 20,000 gallons the charge is 10 cents per gallon, with no discount allowed.

In Oak Bay, for from 0 to 6 units of consumption the bill is $1.67 a month, with a discount of 14 per cent if the bill is paid by the 14th of the month. For over 6 units the charge is 10 cents per unit, less 10 per cent discount. For consumption of over 1,000 units the rate is 8 cents per unit, with 10 per cent discount. A unit is 100 cubic feet of water, or 623 gallons. Oak Bay makes the same connection charges as obtain in Victoria and Esquimalt. Saanich varies them, charging $16 for a half-inch connection, and $21.80 for a three-quarter-inch. In Saanich the only one-inch connections are used for irrigation. In that municipality the size of the connection makes no difference to the water bill, which is based, as it should be, purely on consumption.

If the Victoria and Esquimalt rates are based on some standard method of computing minimum charges, it is evident that those in Oak Bay and Saanich are not. The whole situation affecting rates, as they obtain and differ in Greater Victoria, is perplexing and discriminatory, and the districts supplied from the same sources, should have uniform charges for all consumers. So far as Victoria and Esquimalt are concerned, the minimum rates imposed on the basis of the character of the pipe connections is an entirely wrong principle. After the connections have been paid for, consumers should only be called upon to pay for the actual water used. That is a reform long overdue, and one the City should effect without delay.

DECLINING BIRTH-RATE

Seemingly the decline in the birth-rate is especially marked among white peoples. Leonard Hill has been discussing the problem, for problem it is, for no matter what may be done to secure comfort and prolong life, the virility of a nation depends on growing population. Sir Leonard was speaking as President of the Sanitary Inspectors' Association, and pointed to estimates made to show that between 1931 and 1931 the number of children in England and Wales will have fallen from 9,500,000 to 5,500,000, while those aged 45 and over will increase by 2,500,000.

In Australia the birth-rate has fallen from 42.5 in 1860-1864 to 16.17 now, and in New Zealand from 40 in 1875-1879 to under 40 now. The Maoris still have a birth-rate of 40. In Quebec, where the French-Canadians form 79 per cent of the population, the birth-rate is 24.5; in British Columbia it is only 13.5. In South Africa the fertility of the Dutch is much higher than that of the British.

In the Dominions, with their wide spaces, as well as in the countries where population is congested the glamour of the cities is calling the young. They are falling more and more into what they believe is a happier way of living, close to the seductions of modern inventions, which, in many cases, are not educating them in moral values. There is a desire to escape from open-air work, though it makes for health and content. Nerves become proportionately frayed, and there is more and more of a desire to be relieved from some of the responsibilities of life, and one of those from which escape is sought is that of rearing children. This conception of life is leading, in most parts of the British Empire, to a declining birth-rate, in which there is a definite and vital danger to the future.

The Aberhart Government of Alberta is to engage in another venture of "flat" money, and to give its distribution a foundation a sum of $200,000 has been appropriated. Credit houses are to be opened, but what actually is to be the modus operandi remains clouded in uncertainty, other than that people may be asked to put their money in the hands of the Alberta Government, so that, with it as a background, Mr. Aberhart and his Ministers may conduct an experiment in providing credit, and, incidentally, the payment of a "national dividend." Those who have a little means are unlikely to jeopardize their savings for the purpose of Aberhartian politics, and the latest "fountain pen" installment of Social Credit in Alberta will speedily pass into the limbo of "prosperity scrip," which is now "unwep, unhowled and unsung."

A good heart is better than all the heads in the world.—Edward Butler-Lytton.

Note and Comment

by Sandham Graves

Mayor Charles E. Scanlan, chief magistrate of the city with his place in the sun, Kamloops, outlined a formula for civic management recently that deserved far more attention than was paid to it at the time, due to pressure of other matters. Said his Worship:

"Kamloops owes its position as a contented and prosperous community to the fact that we believe in keeping our expenditures within our income; in meeting our just obligations; in maintaining essential services in a high state of efficiency; and in approaching all our problems in a broad spirit of co-operation and compromise."

That is an acute definition of civic management, and one that Canadian cities in general, and British Columbia cities in particular, might do worse than have spread on an illuminated scroll and hung up in their several council chambers. The motto is simple, and the recognition of income, settlement of debts, perpetuation of public service, and a keen, broad outlook for the future.

One does not hear of Kamloops sending delegations to Ottawa or to Victoria looking for hand-outs. The word "default" has never been mentioned in the same breath as the town. The services are viable and satisfying; and Kamloops not only enjoys but appears to have earned its "place in the sun."

It may, of course, be the air; a fine, dry mountain atmosphere, which you can feel pumping new life into your lungs, and new power into your muscles. "Sited at the meeting of the waters of the South and North Thompson Rivers, Kamloops is shielded on one side by a high ridge, with air so clear that you feel you could count the individual leaves on trees ten miles distant."

It is, primarily, a railroad town, with the brisk, purposeful character of railroad men, never far from a watch and a tour of duty; but benefits, too, from the agricultural life of the interior. Kamloops, and its surrounding lakes, is a sportsman's paradise, and a health resort in its own right.

Pick up The Kamloops Sentinel, issued twice weekly, and you can see how the town thinks, acts and feels. Even in the dark days of the seemingly inescapable world conflict, Kamloops' pulse was normal, and the patient was smiling and contented. Its place was still in the sun, and not in the shadows. There was sanity, purpose, and direction in every column-inch of its news; and its news was a just reflection of its citizens.

With wide, open streets, a keen mountain air, and a job of work to do, Kamloops has kept itself encouragingly free from the daimon of present days. It has had, and may again have, troubles to face; but one feels that they will be minimized and not magnified, and that their solution will be sought in that broad light of co-operation and compromise which is free from the daimon of present days. Kamloops, in short, looks for its civic solutions at home, and finds them there.

One suspects that deep down beneath the surface, Kamloops and its citizens have their own troubles; but they are not thrust under the nose of a visitor. There is a conspicuous putting forward of the bright side, the best foot; and that makes a lasting impression on the stranger within its gates.

A few years ago Kamloops had larger payrolls and more diversified lines of endeavor than is, perhaps, true today. There were, for instance, several large mining enterprises in the area, prosperous pole and licencing contracts, and more of the same type of secondary assets, combining to make a ready-made town. If their loss is felt today, it does not mean that it is not there. It is always the hope that they will come back.

At the present moment the town is considering the erection of a $300,000 city hall, with plans under review for a handsome building, at a choice of sites. It is in keeping that the initial cost of the building, its upkeep and probable carrying charges are set out in plain black and white, before and not after a decision is reached.

If Kamloops orders the building it will be because her citizens, and all of them, decide on that course; for here is a town that lunches with its ratepayers, whose aldermanic board is in-tune with citizens, and knows both their "wills" and their "wants."

That, at least, is the impression this narrator received in sundry daily and, at times, nocturnal perambulations through a town that has vision, purpose and faith. The best of good luck to Kamloops. May it ever keep its "place in the sun."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of September 30, 1888.)

The Vancouver World—The Vancouver World made its first appearance on Saturday evening last as a seven-column eighth-page paper, the latter to be a special feature for Saturday issues. Its typographical appearance is excellent, showing the good-taste exhibited in the selection of type. Its columns are filled with a large amount of spicy local and readable telegraph material, while a good deal of space is devoted to a description of the Terminal City's progress. In the salutation The World's politics are stated to be in accord with the present Provincial Administration, and it will also favor the policy of the Dominion government. Altogether The World has entered the journalistic field under favorable circumstances—it is well edited in all its departments, its policy is sound, and it displays a liberal advertising patronage.

Completes Visit to Lighthouses—W. Smith, deputy minister of marine, returned yesterday afternoon from a visit on the steamer Douglas to Discovery Island, which lies between Victoria and the southern end of San Juan Island. He is of opinion that this point is a favorable place to erect a fog whistle, and will recommend that one be placed there. On Sunday he called at Race Rocks, Pigard and Behren's Islands lighthouses, and found everything in good working order.

Hon. W. J. Asselstine Intervenes in Second Zeballos Field Difference

Hon. W. J. Asselstine continued in Vancouver yesterday in an effort to bring about settlement in a dispute concerning Zeballos Gold Peak Mines, Ltd., where litigation had been threatened. The Minister of Mines was reported in contact with both sides of the dispute, and hopeful of an amicable settlement. No official statement was made, pending return of Mr. Asselstine today.

Recently the Minister of Mines intervened in another Zeballos case, concerning the Privater Mines, which was adjusted to the satisfaction of disputants, clearing the way for extensive development at the West Coast gold field.

If he is instrumental in bringing agreement in the more recent dispute, the minister will return to his office here today, with his role as peacemaker confirmed.

The New York Yankees have voted to split their share of the world series players' pool no less than thirty-six different ways. The clubhouse attendant will get $1,500 and the batboy will receive $1,000. Promoter Mike Jacobs intends to have Joe Louis, colored heavyweight champion, defend his crown in Madison Square Garden sometime in January. He hasn't yet named the opponent for the Bomber.

The Brooklyn Dodgers didn't get as far as the National League pennant race as they would have liked to, but there is consolation in the form of office. The club attracted nearly 750,000 fans, compared with only 480,000 a year ago. Here's the answer to that question in this column yesterday: It was none other than Harry Heilmann, of the Detroit Tigers. Harry Heilmann is a home out of the Detroit Park and it ended up 625 feet away for the longest circuit drive in the history of major league baseball. Tough luck hovered over the opening of the Wednesday Football League this week. In the second match of the twin bill at the park, Bobby Spaven, unfortunately broke a leg—J.D.

Win or Lose

According to Government figures, British Columbians waged a total of $3,434,479 at eight horse racing meets in this province. Somehow it makes one think that a good many mortgages could have been paid off the old homestead, or plenty of steak and potatoes could have been bought with that money. Probably just a case of somebody's gains and some other person's losses, which reminds us of the old gentleman who was ready for rain or shine the other day when he appeared on a downtown street sporting a shiny new Panama hat—and a raincoat.—W.I.F.

Retort Courteous

A tourist walked into a local department store to purchase something "really British," but did not know what she actually wanted. A girl clerk showed her everything at her counter and also suggested other items throughout the store. Half an hour later the tourist was still undecided. She remarked to the experienced clerk: "My, but there are some dumb people in Victoria." The clerk grinned as she replied: "We usually see the last of them towards the end of September."

Bill, the Broad Street barber, said yesterday that the days of the blue blood seem to be coming from greenbacks. History shows that a former German ruler got burned trying to give the country her proper place in the sun. Our tobaccoist friend believes British feel no more towards Americans, until they hear a radio performer's English accent—G.B.

Goals of Fire

When the Jewish girls in a Seminary in the United States sent a good-will message to the Nazi Dictator, Adolf Hitler, the latter must have felt that someone was piling up a rather abundant heap of "goals of fire" on his head.—O.H.N.

THE THREAT OF WAR

Sir—We all pray for peace, but what sort of peace have we in mind? That thing should be called a false, an inhuman peace, which condones cowardice. God save Canada from that stoutheaded jove of peace that encourages a prosperous and stalwart young nation, with a manhood of war-proven courage, in times like these to "sit pretty," trusting in the protection fleets of Great Britain and America. One does not wish to picture Canadian youth in full enjoyment of all heaven's modern gifts, airplanes, cars, radios, picture shows, all the debaucheries of this wanton pleasure, kaudy and evanescent, answering the recruiting sergeant. "This is not Czechoslovakia, we are peace-loving Canucks."

Now, while all Europe braces itself to resist the Fascist powers, should our Dominion hold back, saying, "Let be! We are quite comfortable here in this lovely land. No war squadrons darken our skies as yet, we will have peace; we don't want to fight, even with our sister Dominions as allies. We had enough in the Great War." Then will the cup of our abominations be overflowing. And then we will have peace, but, even with dishonor, for how long?

By all means let us pray for peace; but let us at the same time step on the gas and get ready to fight for it. Otherwise our Empire will vanish, and there will remain no red spot of freedom around the Seven Seas on which a free-born Britisher can find room to kneel and say a prayer.

HOUSING

Sir—It is now generally conceded that good housing has much to do with the health of any community. How can this be accomplished? Much has been written on the question of the housing of the working classes, but the studies have almost exclusively confined themselves to the structural requirements and the choice of site. The first question in my mind is one of finance, and, second, the matter of security of ownership when a "working man" has managed to acquire a home.

In dealing with the first question we have to admit that money is not available from private sources for the building and rental of houses. It is not considered a good business investment. Governing bodies will not embark on housing schemes for the same reason, and deficiencies would have to be made up by taxation. This would be unpopular.

In taking up the second question, viz.—Security of ownership, I think a very vital point has been raised. Many articles have appeared in both Canadian and American papers about the great number of dwellings that have been built in Britain during recent years as compared with the number in this country and the United States. I think the difference in the systems of taxation has much to do with this.

In Britain, when a person has acquired and fully paid for a home it cannot be taken away from him for non-payment of taxes. In Canada, a home owner who fails to pay property-tax for three years, forfeits his home to the municipality. Thus the savings of perhaps a lifetime are swept away and the family is without a roof. Can there be any wonder that we have, comparatively, so few home owners among the working classes, or that persons with means are loath to build for rental purposes, when should the income from rentals fall below the taxation demands, the money must be got from some other source or the property forfeited.

Worry is a very prolific source of ill health. A man will worry about losing his employment, but if this means also losing his home, the ill effects are much greater. It is also generally recognized that environment also has much to do with health. Pass along the streets of rented houses, and you will almost invariably find the houses dilapidated and the gardens neglected, presenting a drab and cheerless aspect. On the other hand, observe a district where a large proportion of the houses are owned by the ac-

SUNRISE AND SUNSET

In the Realm of Women

Mrs. Reid New Head Of League

Mrs. Blair Reid, Victoria, was elected diocesan president at the annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League held on Wednesday afternoon and evening at the home of Wing Commander and Mrs. P. A. O. Leask, "Quarry Point," Cobble Hill. Miss Rose McKenna was chosen first vice-president; Miss Madeline Clay, second vice-president; Mrs. M. Fagan, third vice-president; Mrs. J. J. O'Brien, secretary; and Mrs. William McManus, treasurer.

The delegates, representing all the subdivisions of the Island and Victoria, were welcomed by Mrs. Leask, who was assisted during the day by Mrs. S. Samuelson, president of Cobble Hill-Shawnessy subdivision, Mrs. W. Munster, retiring diocesan president, conducted the meeting in the afternoon.

Reports on the year's work were given by the secretary, Miss Rose McKenna, treasurer, Miss Madeline Clay; organizations, Mrs. E. McManus; study clubs and magazine, Miss M. Clay; education, scholarship and publicity, Mrs. Ebbes-Cavanagh; lay retreats, Mrs. W. H. Munster; citizenship, Mrs. Blair Reid.

CLERGY'S TRIBUTE

Bishop Cody paid warm tribute to the work of the league in all parts of his diocese and thanked the women for their splendid support. His thanks were supplemented by each of the following clergy, who praised the work done in their individual parishes by the subdivisions: Rev. Father A. B. Wood, Rev. Father J. Knox, S.J., Rev. Father Lewis McLennan (Nanaimo), Rev. Father John McLennan (Ladysmith), Rev. Father Latour (Duncan), Rev. Father L. J. Bradley of the West Coast Mission, Rev. Father Kennedy (Qualicum), and Rev. Father Geukens.

Reports were presented by the following: Girl Guides, Miss K. Morry; Victoria Subdivision, Mrs. Blair Reid; Esquimalt, Mrs. M. Matheson; Oak Bay, Mrs. Rose McKenna; Nanaimo, Mrs. Edge Partington; Ladysmith, Mrs. Noni Langford; Mrs. M. Fagan; diocesan social service, Mrs. Harriet O'Brien; juniors, Miss Mary Comerford.

GIFT PRESENTED

The retiring president, spoke in warm appreciation of the loyal support given during her two years in that office. Mrs. McManus, on behalf of the members, presented Mrs. Munster with a beautiful pelt-point evening bag and corsage bouquet. Mrs. Leask, on behalf of the diocesan executive, presented Mrs. Leask with a leather-bound guest book and a corsage bouquet in appreciation of her ever-generous hospitality. Mrs. Leask asking all those present to record their names within its covers.

The meeting endorsed the resolution denouncing the influx of war refugees into Canada, which was passed at the National convention; and also reiterated its request that manual training and domestic science privileges be made available to pupils attending Catholic schools.

Mrs. McManus was warmly thanked for ably convening the day in Ottawa before continuing westward to arrive in Victoria about October 20.

From the tone of Dr. Harper's earlier communications, it was surmised that because of press censorship conditions in Europe and his own serious illness, he was not fully aware of the war that had been waged to foreigners to leave Germany. So Dr. J. A. Pearce, Victoria, cabled asking Canada House and the Foreign Office in England to communicate with him and assist him to get out of Germany. This was immediately done.

Because of his illness, Dr. Harper's sailings have been repeatedly postponed, and he is, therefore, sailing by the different vessel.

Overheard while the boat was passing through a storm: Steward—Ye ain't sick, are ye? Passenger—Not exactly, but I'd hate to sail.

"Yes, sir, these are the ruins of a building that was in existence 2500 years ago," declared the guide. "What rubbish!" one member of the tourist party answered. "Why it's only 1837 now."

The evening session was followed by a supper arranged by the hostess subdivision.

Apparently Unaware of War Threat

His many friends who have been concerned over the safety of Dr. W. E. Harper, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, who has been seriously ill for several weeks at Warmun, Germany, will be interested to know that information was received here by cable yesterday that he and his wife and daughter, Miss Evelyn Harper, were leaving today for Copenhagen, Denmark, and thence for England, and that they expected to sail from Southampton on October 7 on the S.S. Acadia for Montreal. They intend to stay for a day or two in Ottawa before continuing westward to arrive in Victoria about October 20.

From the tone of Dr. Harper's earlier communications, it was surmised that because of press censorship conditions in Europe and his own serious illness, he was not fully aware of the war that had been waged to foreigners to leave Germany. So Dr. J. A. Pearce, Victoria, cabled asking Canada House and the Foreign Office in England to communicate with him and assist him to get out of Germany. This was immediately done.

Because of his illness, Dr. Harper's sailings have been repeatedly postponed, and he is, therefore, sailing by the different vessel.

Overheard while the boat was passing through a storm: Steward—Ye ain't sick, are ye? Passenger—Not exactly, but I'd hate to sail.

"Yes, sir, these are the ruins of a building that was in existence 2500 years ago," declared the guide. "What rubbish!" one member of the tourist party answered. "Why it's only 1837 now."

Spectators Interested In Exhibits

The exhibition of Canadian crafts held yesterday afternoon by the Parent-Teacher Association of Sir James Douglas School, attracted a large number of interested spectators, among whom were many of the school children, who found much interest in seeing the wool being spun, rugs hooked and weaving looms in progress. Several of the girls and boys tried their hands at the table loom weaving and were delighted when they found that the task was so easy and so fascinating.

Mrs. J. Erickson demonstrated the making of the old colonial scroll and figure type of hooked rug, and Mrs. W. L. students of the Academy of Useful Arts instructed spectators in the intricacies of fagoting and smoking, and Mrs. J. L. White, head of the Weavers' Guild, demonstrated weaving. A number of particularly beautiful examples of this craft, made by members of the guild, were on display on a special table. Mrs. Beyer, of the Danish Weaving House, exhibited some beautiful Spanish lace design table mats and new designs of "Botanical Garden" weaving, and the interesting Navajo and Chinese weaving, which she studied recently in Colorado and Arizona. Mrs. J. M. Findlay gave a spinning demonstration on an Icelandic type of wheel, using wool grown at Lake Hill.

A beautiful tapestry by Mrs. A. S. Christie, in the "tree of life" design, was much admired by the visitors. Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan also gave a spinning demonstration on a big wheel and explained the various processes.

Kipling Society Hears Historical Story at Meeting

"The Tree of Justice," a story of the eleventh century dealing with England, with comments on the historical background of the story was read to the well-attended meeting of the Kipling Society by the president, A. E. G. Cornwell, on Wednesday evening in the society's new quarters, over the Royal Bank of Canada on Fort Street. The two poems connected with the story, "A Ballad of Minipit Shaw" and "A Carol," were read by Miss B. M. Carlie.

Membership cards from the Central Society, London, each bearing the signature of Major-General L. C. Dunsterville, president of the Central Society, and the original "Stalky" of "Stalky and Co.," were distributed to the members. The society also received a gift from a member of a copy of Kipling's poem, "The Absent-Minded Beggar," written during the Boer War and printed in sheet form as it was issued and sold in order to raise money for the benefit of the soldiers in South Africa.

Plans made by the programme committee include speakers at some of the future meetings, the October meeting to be addressed by Miss Jean Elliott.

"GIRL LOVES BOY" AT PLAZA TODAY

Saga of Love and Sacrifice Unfolded in Homespun Romance Now Showing Here

The story of "Girl Loves Boy" unfolds a saga of love and sacrifice, against the quaint and homely background of a typical New England town, and will open today at the Plaza Theatre.

The romance of the young lovers, married by the boy's mistop and ill-timed marriage, admirably portrayed by Eric Linden and the lovely Jean Parker, the courageous mother love, as expressed by that splendid character actress, Dorothy Peterson, and the supreme devotion of a father for his erring son, brilliantly and movingly presented by Roger Imhof, all serve to make up a screen drama of superior quality.

gangland films, Columbia's "I Am the Law" will open today at the Dominion Theatre, with Edward G. Robinson convincingly starred as its dynamic, gag-busting, fighting prosecutor.

Robinson's performance is superb; better—if that be possible—than his work in many previous stellar roles. Otto Kruger, who never fails to give smoothly artistic characterizations, is peerless as the glove-smooth car of the racketeers.

COLUMBIA Gene Autry, by his theatre unparalleled popularity in the western film field, has won for himself the title "Public Cowboy No. 1." In honor of this distinction, Republic has named his latest photograph with this cognomen. "Public Cowboy No. 1" is now at the Columbia Theatre.

OAK BAY Harriet Hilliard, lovely wife of Band Leader Ozzie Nelson off the screen, is seen with Fred MacMurray in "Cocoanut Grove," the film at the Oak Bay Theatre. Miss Hilliard is seen as vocalist with MacMurray's barnstorming swing band, and that finally makes the grade at the actual Cocoanut Grove.

Although it starts in a western locale, "Cowboys From Brooklyn," musical farce, which will open today at the Atlas Theatre, with Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane in the featured roles, is definitely not a western picture, for it takes nothing in the western scene seriously.

It is a hilarious tale of the complications which ensue when a New York theatrical producer, played by O'Brien, comes to a Wyoming dude ranch and assumes that a trio of stranded eastern musicians who dress up in cowboy duds while they entertain the guests are authentic cowboys.

Exciting Timber Story is Here

Wayne Morris and Clair Trevor Head Cast of "Valley of the Giants" at Capitol

The technicolor production, "Valley of the Giants," with Wayne Morris and Clair Trevor heading a brilliant cast, will open today and play for four days at the Capitol Theatre.

The picture is based on the well-known novel of the same name by Peter B. Kyne. It tells the story of the battle waged thirty-five years ago to prevent depopulation of California's redwood forests by selfish lumber interests.

Most of the action takes place outdoors, and all outdoor scenes were filmed in the heart of the redwood country. It is not only an exciting drama but also one of the most beautiful and impressive pictures ever made.

Mrs. Newby called at the shop to buy oysters.

"Do you want large—or small ones?" she was asked.

Just medium, I think," she sweetly replied. "My husband takes a sixteen collar."

UNEMPLOYABLE CASES PROBED

Alderman S. H. Okell Gives Report on Examination Of 123 Persons

Authority has been given E. W. Griffith, Provincial relief administrator, to adjudicate the cases of those hitherto classed as unemployed, Alderman S. H. Okell, chairman of the relief committee, informed the City Council at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Alderman Okell stated he had spent several hours with E. G. Snowden, relief officer, and Mr. Griffith examining the records of 123 persons listed as unemployed. Of the total number, six were found to be working, six were classed partially employable, and six others were found capable of working.

Twenty-six were placed in a new test class. They would be required to secure at least three days' casual labor in October and another three in November before they were classed employable—the alderman explained.

Alderman James Adam, chairman of the parks committee, informed the council that a new dog pound building could be erected with second-hand brick beside the old harbor pumping station for $829. The matter was referred to the public works committee.

Instructions were given the legislative committee to examine by-law No. 2201, as applied to a fireman who had received five months' full pay while seriously ill. A ruling will be established on the man's case.

CELEBRATED FRENCH PLAY NOW ON SCREEN

Upton Sinclair, world-famous author, wrote the brilliant screen version of Eugene Brieux's celebrated French play, "Damaged Goods," which will open at the Plaza Theatre on Monday.

"The sole purpose of the author of 'Damaged Goods' was to place before the minds of the public a number of most important facts and to drive them home by means of intense dramatic action," Mr. Sinclair said.

Winsome Bluebird Is Back

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A sweetly soft evasive voice; A tiny bit of azure sky; This bonny, Winsome Bluebird come

To tell us Mistress Spring is nigh.

"He's back! He's back! He's back!" Peter Rabbit raced around through the dear Old Briar Patch as if he were quite out of his head. Little Mrs. Peter began to think that he was, and she was sure of it when he tried to walk on his hands, which of course he couldn't do, and that finally makes the grade at the actual Cocoanut Grove.

"Are you crazy, Peter?" she demanded sharply.

"Yep!" replied Peter, which was neither a nice nor a correct way of answering. "I'm crazy. I'm crazy with joy. He's here! He's back!"

Mrs. Peter pulled his ear until Peter squealed. "Who's here? Who's back?" she demanded, and gave the ear another pull that brought an "Ouch!" from Peter.

"Listen, my dear," said he by way of answer.

Mrs. Peter listened. At first she heard nothing but the distant voice of Dandy to the Rooster booming as usual to his admiring followers in Farmer Brown's henyard. Then just as she was opening her mouth to ask Peter what he meant she heard the softest, sweetest whistle, full of gladness, with just a wee bit of sadness, and seeming to come from nowhere and everywhere at the same time. Mrs. Peter let go of Peter's ear and began to dance up and down and clap her hands. "It's Winsome Bluebird!" she cried joyfully.

"Of course," replied Peter, rubbing his ear. "Who did you suppose it was?"

Mrs. Peter made no reply, but put her hand on Peter's lips. Then they both listened so intently they almost forgot to breathe. In a minute they heard that sweet, gentle whistle just seeming to float out of the air. Then Peter and Mrs. Peter danced together the funniest dance that ever was. It was a dance of happiness.

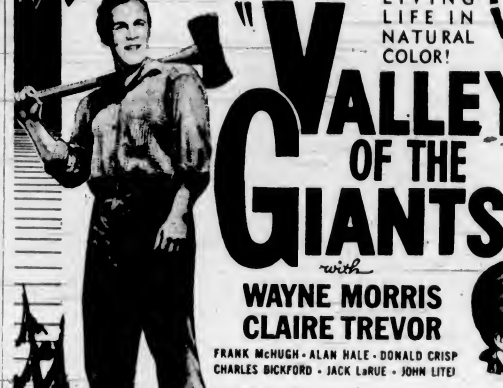

"Oh, but I do so want to see him!" cried Mrs. Peter when they stopped for breath. "Where do you suppose he is? You go peep out of that side of the Briar Patch and I'll peep out of this side. His voice sounded to me as if he must be some way off, but his coat is so blue that we may be able to see him if he is."

So Peter went one way and Mrs. Peter went the other way and both looked and looked. But though they heard his whistle again and again they saw nothing of Winsome Bluebird. Both looked disappointed as they returned to the heart of the Briar Patch.

"His voice is lovely, but it is such a provoking voice because you never can tell where it comes from," said Peter. "Listen! There it is again, but it may come from up in the clouds, or it may come from the Big Hickory Tree over by the Smil-

DESCRIBES MATCH MAKING INDUSTRY

Representative of Canadian Corporation Gives History of Plant to Printing Trades Club

John F. Taylor, secretary and sales director of the E. B. Eddy Company, Ltd. Hull, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Government Printing Crafts and Social Club, held recently in Terry's private dining-room.

Mr. Taylor's subject was "The History of the E. B. Eddy Company, Limited," wherein he wove a fascinating story around the founder of the company, who, eighty-seven years ago, rented a small shack on the banks of the Ottawa River and started to make matches by hand.

Later the business was extended; timber lands were purchased; mills erected and paper machines installed. Mr. Taylor traced the growth of Canada's foremost plant to the present time, and then took his audience on an imaginary tour through the plant, which has grown from one little shack to 147 buildings, erected on seventy-six acres of ground, and from two to seventeen hundred employees. At the close of his talk, Mr. Taylor answered questions on paper making.

Preceding the address, a business session was held, which was presided over by the president, N. Robertson. Musical items were given by Miss Phyllis Deaville, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. George H. E. Green, and Norman Bentley, guitarist, and community singing, led by J. C. Warren was enjoyed. The guest speaker was introduced by Christine P. Bannfield, King's Printer and Comptroller of Stationery for the Province of British Columbia, and Harry Reddin, manager of Trees & Paper, Ltd., Vancouver, was also welcomed to the meeting. The thanks and appreciation of the club were extended to the speaker and assisting artists by G. S. Carr, of the bindery staff.

WILLING An itinerant musician was stranded in a village one Sunday morning, and as he was playing his cornet in the street he was approached by a clergyman, who said: "Do you know the Fourth Commandment, my good man?" "No," the musician replied, "but if you'll just whistle it over, I'll do my best."

THREE SETS OF TENDERS ASKED

Hon. F. M. MacPherson to Open Powell River Agency Bids at Noon Today

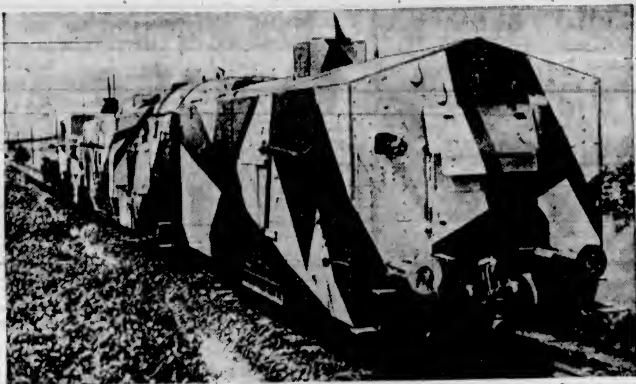

Three sets of tenders will be opened by the British Columbia Department of Public Works, commencing today with the receipting at noon of bids on a two-story Government agency building at Powell River. Hon. F. M. MacPherson said yesterday. Remodelling the Fales Building in New Westminster, and repairs to the Provincial Laboratory, Hornby Street, Vancouver, will follow within the next two weeks.

The Powell River building will be a frame wooden structure, with living quarters for the agent, public works and police offices, and a courtroom. Bids will be opened by the Minister of Public Works at noon at the Legislative Buildings.

Tenders called on the New Westminster work will be opened at noon on October 6, and those on the Provincial Laboratory, where repairs, alterations and painting will be carried out, on October 14.

That will complete building construction for the present. In default of advice from the main body of the Provincial Government at Ottawa, no word has been received here as to the next move on provincial highways. Work planned out for the present season is nearing completion.

Restful Sleep at High Speed

Latest in air travel over the historic Overland Trail are United Air Lines' aerial "sleeping cars." The new sleeper planes, which link Atlantic Coast and Great Lakes cities with the Pacific Coast, have the size of twin beds, and are endorsed by the Tall Travelers Association. The sleeper planes feature separate dressing rooms and lavatories for men and women, hot and cold running water, electric razors, an electric kitchen for hot a la carte meals, and a special lounge and smoking compartment.

hit a high mark for the Fall during the week with eight deep-sea ships at berth. At the grain elevator was the Spanish freighter Maria de Larrinaga, taking 3,000 tons of wheat. Two Norwegian refrigerator ships were loading apples, one taking 10,000 boxes, the other 9,000 boxes, while the British S.S. Sunnington court was discharging phosphate from the Gulf of Mexico. Other ships were the S.S. Maple, loading fertilizer for Hawaii; the S.S. Pacific Pioneer, taking metal, lumber and general for the United Kingdom; and the S.S. Templeyard and S.S. Sandham were both loading lumber cargo for the British Isles.

SHIP LIABLE FOR PENALTY

German Freight Boat Sailed From Nova Scotia Port Without Clearance

PICTOU, N.S., Sept. 29 (AP)—The German freighter Hans Leonhardt sailed away from Pictou early today without clearing at the Customs House. She carried 1,800 cords of pulpwood.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29 (AP)—The German freighter Hans Leonhardt rendered herself liable to a $400 penalty by sailing from Pictou, N.S., today without customs clearance papers, National Revenue Department officials said.

The penalty will be collected should the ship return to any Canadian port within three years. If she does return within that time and her master does not pay the $400, the ship would be seized and held for thirty days. If the $400 was unpaid then, she would be auctioned by the Customs Department. Should she not return to a Canadian port within three years, the penalty expires.

ASKING ORDER BE SET ASIDE

Selection of Bridges as Bargaining Agent Unfair to A.F.L. Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor asked the United States Court of Appeals here today to set aside a National Labor Board order designating Harry Bridges' longshoremen's union, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, as bargaining agent for West Coast dock laborers.

The board, in a recent order, created for the first time a geographical unit of workers to bargain with their employers.

The federation said the board decision would force longshoremen affiliated with the A.F. of L. "to become members of or deal exclusively with" the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, which Bridges heads.

Authorities Will Be Guided by War Office, but Schedule Will Be Carried Out as Listed—Several Players Called to Service—Evertson Called Upon to Face Liverpool

LONDON, Sept. 29 (P)—Soccer games in England on Saturday will be run off as scheduled. It was announced today. Football authorities, however, will be guided by the War Office in their attitude during the international situation.

It was announced earlier today services teams in the English Rugby Union will not play. The order affected scheduled matches between Devonport Services and Bristol and Guy's Hospital and United Services. Six Tottenham Hotspur players have answered the call for service with the anti-aircraft searchlight section of the Royal Engineers, but the club will not be weakened materially. Only one player, J. Hill, has figured in the league team this year. The Spurs, in the second division, have an away match with West Bromwich Albion.

Reckless, northern section, third division club, will be weakened for Saturday's game against Hartlepool United. Griffith, outside-left and member of the naval reserve, has left the team to join the depot. Leader of the first division with Derby County, Evertson will field the same eleven that started the season. They face the third-place Liverpool club at home.

FACES BLACKPOOL
The County has a comparatively easy match with Blackpool at Derby. Blackpool shares eleventh position with Leeds United and Leicester City, five points behind the leaders. Champions of the league in 1937, Arsenal has six points, gained from two victories and two draws in seven games. Sunderland will provide opposition this week at Roker Park.

Preston North End, cupholder, is at home to Manchester United, from the second division, while Aston Villa, also advanced to the league, company, entertainers Portmouth.

Blackburn Rovers, Second Division leaders, have a tough proposition at Millwall. In third place, three points in arrears. The second-place Fulham squad, one point behind Blackburn, visits Manchester City. Manchester was demoted this year from the first division and now is near the bottom of the league.

Deadlocked at the top of the southern circuit with Swindon Town, Northampton goes to Aldershot, erstwhile leader now in third place behind Brighton, Newport and Crystal Palace. Swindon is favored to defeat Port Vale on the latter's ground.

No. 1 position in the northern section was switched during the week when Oldham Athletic triumphed 3-1 over Accrington Stanley to leap ahead of Crewe Alexandra and Barnsley. Oldham has thirteen points and Crewe and Barnsley twelve. All three will play at home this week. Oldham entertains Chester, Crewe will be invaded by Southport and Barnsley meets Bradford City.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE
GLASGOW, Sept. 29 (P)—Scottish Football League matches scheduled for Saturday will be played, it was announced today. But, as in the English League, soccer officials will be guided by the War Office in their attitude during the international situation.

The league, with a surprise leader in Queen of Scotland's team that narrowly escaped demotion to the Second group last year, has been notable for upsets this season. In early weeks of the campaign, Clyde swept all opposition aside to hold leadership, but has failed in its recent games, and now is in a fourth-position tie with Aberdeen. Celtic and Glasgow Rangers, the "old firm" of Scottish soccer, are in second position, one point behind the Dumfries team.

a hitting average of .371, including ten home runs.

GORDON STARS

Taking them position by position, the Yankees must be conceded the best man at first and second. Chicago fans probably will debate the nomination of the rookie Gordon over their great second sacker, Bill Herman, but the best opinion is that Herman has slipped a little this year, and that Gordon, if not the best second baseman in the business today, is closing in on Charley Gehringer fast.

Red Rolfe at third was at least a stand-off for Chicago's Hack Most. Most baseball men consider him the best in the game. If that is true, then the Yankees need concede only one infield spot to their potential rivals—shortstop. Slugging Arkie Vaughan, of the Cubs, undoubtedly is a more valuable player than Crossett, yet the little Italian is such a slick fielder and so fine a lead-off man that Vaughan's margin is less than it looks.

Gordon's play at second base, his habit of snaring balls that few other infielders would touch, probably makes the Yankees a slightly tighter defensive unit than either rival. They have helped their pitchers with 170 double plays up to now, compared to 160 for the Pirates and thirty-five for the Cubs.

LEE REGISTERS 10-1 WIN TO WIDEN LEAD TO GAME AND A HALF

Brilliant Righthander Pitches Great Game as Chicago Sweeps Crucial Series From Pittsburgh—Cubs Face Cardinals Next—Greenberg Fails to Boost His Home Run Mark

By The Canadian Press

On the strong right arm of Bill "Iron Man" Lee, the fighting Chicago Cubs rode to a crushing 10-1 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates today for a sweep of the three-game series and a game and one-half lead in the National League pennant battle.

The husky Chicago righthander, pitching for a fourth time in as many days, set the Pirates down with only seven hits. Their lone run came as the result of four straight passes in the third inning. From the first inning, in which the rampant Cubs scored three runs, largely through the wildness of Russ Bauers, Chicago took command—then surged on to a tenth straight victory in a seemingly unstoppable march to the championship.

The Cubs, nine games out of first place five weeks ago and winners over the Pirates in close, dramatic contests Tuesday and Wednesday, took their bats and made today's game a rout. Ten lusty hits off four Pirate hurlers, backed up by a brilliant defence, gave the Cubs victory, their twentieth in their last twenty-three games.

A throng of 42,628 saw the Bruins collect three runs in the first inning on a hit, three walks and a sacrifice. After the Cubs scored their single run in the third, the Cubs pushed two more scores over in the fourth on hits by Rip Collins, Bill Jurgens, Stan Hack and Frank Demaree.

TO FACE CARDS

They picked up three more markers in the fifth on as many hits and one of three Pittsburgh errors, and scored their final two runs in the eighth on a single hit as John Bazo made the second of his two miscues and Arky Vaughan contributed another boot.

After trouncing Pittsburgh a fifth straight time this season, the Cubs wind up the season with three games with the Cardinals, while the Pirates are scheduled to encounter the Cincinnati Reds four times in the final three days of the campaign.

Meanwhile, at St. Louis, Johnny Vander Meer held the Cardinals to seven hits and won his fourteenth victory 7-4 for Cincinnati Reds.

Ernie Lombardi, Reds' catcher, recaptured the National League batting leadership in the game from Johnny Mize, Cardinals' first baseman, getting a double and single while Mize went hitless. Percentages are: Lombardi .332, Mize .329.

New York Giants took an easy 9-2 decision from the Phillies behind the eight-hit pitching of Cliff Melton, and Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Bees split a double-header, the Bees taking the opener 2-1 and Brooklyn the nightcap 8-6.

Drubbing Washington Senators 13-5, Boston Red Sox mathematically clinched second place in the American League.

This is the highest the club has finished since 1917 and 1918, when Ed Barrow, now with New York Yankees, piloted them home second and first, respectively.

The Yankees whipped Philadelphia Athletics 7-4 in the opener of a double-header, and then battled to a 1-1 tie in the nightcap before darkness halted play at the end of the fifth inning.

GREENBERG FAILS
At Detroit, Tommy Bridges won his thirteenth game of the season as the Tigers defeated St. Louis Browns 6-2 in their final appearance of the year.

The Tigers raked Buck Newsum, who went the route for St. Louis, for eleven hits, but Frank Greenberg, aiming for Babe Ruth's home run record, failed to add to his fifty-eight total.

Roy Weatherly, powerful little outfielder, homered the first ball pitched to him over the wall in the tenth inning to give Cleveland a 9-8 victory over Chicago.

British Columbia was third with 721 and Manitoba fourth with 724. An inter-sectional team, composed of four Western players, was fifth with 739 and a Maritime team last with 790.

CENTRE HOLDS FIRST DISPLAY

Provincial Recreation Classes
Give Demonstration at Memorial Hall

Paving the way towards the opening of the fifth fall season of Provincial Recreation classes on Vancouver Island, a mass meeting of 200 Victoria youths was held in the Memorial Hall last night at the first showing of a recently completed film showing the organization's activity in Vancouver during the 1936 season.

Begun with a series of gymnastic demonstrations on the stage, which included men and women's fundamental "keep fit" exercises, led by Miss F. Borde, Eric Moyes and A. Dawkins, the meeting stressed the desirability of regular exercise and training as an integral part of health and happiness.

In a lengthy film displayed by Paul Kazoolin, of Vancouver, the training of gym leaders from British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan was depicted on the screen. The rally held last year under the auspices of the Department of Education in the Mainland city was staged for the purpose of training group leaders for this year's classes.

Full classes for men and women will open on Vancouver Island at the Central Junior High School, the Lake Hill Community Hall, Brentwood Hall, North Saanich, Brentwood and Sooke. The centres, which will offer a complete routine of gymnastics for both men and women, will give notification of the opening dates of the various classes in The Victoria Times and The Daily Colonist.

Lawn Bowling

At a well-attended meeting held in the Hampton Hall on Wednesday evening, it was decided to amalgamate the holding and the playing sections of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club.

As a further advance in the progressive programme of the club, it was agreed to seek incorporation under the Companies Act and to invite all players to become partners in the ownership of the property. The seventeenth annual meeting and the election of officers for 1939 will take place early in January. All subscribers to the new conditions of membership will be eligible to vote at that meeting. A progressive five hundred party will be held at the club on Saturday, October 8.

COAST BASEBALL

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29 (AP)—The San Francisco Seals shelved three Sacramento pitchers for seventeen hits here tonight as they carried off the second game of the Coast League playoff series with a 9 to 4 victory.

Ed Stutz was on the mound for the Seals and his job was a sinecure as he rolled off the Seals' bats in bunches. Bill Walker started on the slab for the Sacs, was lifted for Dick Newsome in the fifth and Cotton Phippen finished up.

The playoff series now is tied at 1-1.

dous ovation. He was cheered, hailed and given the Nazi outstretched arm salute. He smiled broadly, lifted his hat and waved his greeting.

NO POWER TO ACCEPT

It was stated Vojtech Mastny, Czechoslovakian minister to Berlin, and an associate, who received the agreement, had no power to accept for the Prague Government.

Deladier, returning to his hotel, said he and Chamberlain spent some time explaining to Mastny why they felt it necessary to accept. An unimpeachable source said the action of Britain and France in making themselves "responsible for the steps necessary" to fulfill the agreement meant this:

If the Czechoslovakia refuse to accept, France cannot come to their aid in case of an attack; and Britain, which is pledged only to support France, cannot be drawn in.

The official announcement did not state what "international bodies" would occupy the regions not recognized as wholly German, pending the plebiscite.

It was believed, however, they would be police forces sent in by the four signatories to the agreement, or by small military detachments.

Possibility has been expressed Britain's share of supporting a body would be provided by the British Legion.

A QUIET PARTY

Field Marshal Goerring and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, of Germany, and Premier Daladier entered their hotels, one by one, smiling broadly. Goerring and a group of his aides later joined a quiet beer party to celebrate the agreement.

The map to show the four Sudeten zones which the Czechoslovakia are supposed to begin to evacuate and Germany to occupy October 1 was not made public. A British spokesman said, however, they were roughly as follows:

THE ZONES

Zone One takes in Krumau, along the Czechoslovak-Austrian German border. This is the smallest of the four.

Zone Two includes Asch, Eger, Karlovy Vary (Karlsbad) and Marienbad.

Zone Three is along the Silesian border.

Zone Four is along the Saxon border.

How deep these zones go into Czechoslovakia was not explained.

Premier Mussolini was understood to have left Munich almost immediately after the conference broke up. Munich residents broke through a line of guards into the darkened streets to cheer Il Duce's car.

Mr. Chamberlain planned to leave this afternoon after a rest from the peace efforts he started at Berchtesgaden September 15 and saw to fruiting his efforts today. He will report to the House of Commons on Monday. It was understood.

The time of Daladier's departure was not disclosed.

CHAMBERLAIN'S AIM

Shortly before midnight an official British spokesman strongly stressed Mr. Chamberlain's determination to reach as full an agreement as possible before taking leave of Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini and Deladier. The spokesman made plain that Mr. Chamberlain would not let his desire to return to London stand in the way of "complete agreement."

The third in the series of conversations started shortly after 10 p.m. (2 p.m. M.S.T.) after a ninety-minute pause for dinner.

TIME OUT!

By Chet Smith

Bill's an old auto racer—he always takes a mechanic along!

LIFE'S LIKE THAT - By Fred Neher

Here goes my free dish... But it'll be worth it!

Jane Dixon Says:

MUCH UNHAPPINESS IN MARRIED LIFE COULD HAVE BEEN PREVENTED IF THE MAN AND WIFE HAD BEEN WILLING TO MEET EACH OTHER HALF WAY.

In early married life a clash of wills between bride and bridegroom has swept them swiftly to lasting unhappiness.

Such a pity, when the wreck might so easily have been avoided! Just a decision to meet the other one half way, to leap backward a bit if necessary, and go three-quarters of the way—if each party to the marriage contract had made and adhered to this decision, how many smashed homes would have been saved to happiness?

Dear Jane Dixon: What in the world has happened to our marriage, Miss Dixon? We have been married less than six months, and already our dream has become a nightmare. Nothing but arguments. At first it was just a little difference of opinion, but that has grown and grown until now it seems one of us can't say the least thing without the other flying off the handle. We've said some pretty bad things to each other, things it would be hard for either of us ever to forget or forgive.

No use denying, we're both stubborn. We both want our own way. My husband was an only son, and his parents very seldom crossed him. They thought and still think what he does or says is the last word. I am the youngest of quite a large family, so I am pretty well spoiled, too.

What I can't understand is that while we were sweethearts, we both thought more of pleasing each other than of having our own way. We tried to please each other, not ourselves.

Why should marriage change us as it has? I'm sure I love my husband, and I know he loves me. Yet, at times, you'd think we were two snarling animals in a cage instead of two doves in a cot.

Is there some answer to our problem before it's too late?—Discontented Wife.

Comment: There is an answer to your problem and the right answer, if you are willing to find it. Of course, you know it takes two to make an argument. When the clash starts, pull the emergency brake on your tongue. No matter how right you think you are, stop short; but don't sulk. Be calm, cheery. Change the subject as soon as possible. When your husband notices your change in attitude—he surely will notice it—and when he remarks about it, that is the time to ask him for a heart-to-heart talk. Suggest that the two of you make a bargain to go halves on having your own way. Agree to meet each other half-way or to alternate—you have your way this time, your husband has his way the next time. Fix a forfeit for breaking the agreement or for trying to sneak around it.

You'll be surprised how soon you'll be thinking in harmony instead of scrapping in discord.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"

If September 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until 12 noon; from 2 to 4 p.m., and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m.; from 6 to 8 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

It will be well for you to rectify immediately any mistakes you are conscious of making this day. If you delay, you may not be able to correct them. Errors in judgment are apt to be a rule rather than an exception. Quick mental reactions are not always the safest, so analyze yours before their impetus gets you into trouble. You must display strength of character if anyone tries to take advantage of you, particularly in financial matters. Guess work, especially in business transactions involving figures, will be the underlying cause of many business deals falling through. One misstatement may be sufficient to destroy the average person's confidence. Speak literally and avoid flowery language if you would keep from being misunderstood. Married and engaged couples and those who are matrimonially inclined, must not be domineering, if they hope to have an enjoyable day together.

If a woman and September 30 is your birthday, you are not likely to be either contented or vain. By being unassuming, you should win many friends. You may worry too much about those who are near and dear to you. A love for flowers, music and books is probably one of your outstanding characteristics. Although you are apt to be fond of merrymaking and informal friendly gatherings, conventional society might not have much of an appeal to you. You may have an inspiration that will enable you to make plenty of money. The stage, lecture or concert platform, church work or some intellectual pursuit might provide you with the means for becoming prosperous. Your materimonial opportunities for happiness appear to be unlimited.

The child born on September 30 is generally unselfish, generous and very affectionate. Extremely sensitive in feelings, he is easily hurt. While not necessarily studious, these children, as a rule, more than hold their own at school and are frequently outstandingly successful.

If a man and September 30 is your natal day, you must never lose faith in your ability to succeed. Nothing can stop you if you are courageous and persevering. As a dentist, chemist, inventor, broker, architect, engineer, actor, writer or sales agent you ought to make money and a name for yourself.

"If I have a night out I feel beaten black and blue next day. Do you?"

GIVE DOCTOR EARLY VISIT

Dr. George Hall, in Address On Cancer, Advises Seeing Medical Man

Addressing the Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel on the subject of cancer yesterday, Dr. George Hall described the disease as one of the great scourges to which the human race was subject. After tracing the history of the trouble and the methods employed today to deal with it, Dr. Hall admonished his hearers not to worry if anything which might be suggestive of cancer should appear, but to proceed at once to one's doctor.

Dr. Hall said that the chance of eradicating the trouble was much greater when taken in time. While cancer might appear at any age, it was noted that experience showed that between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five was being the most likely time for the appearance.

The advice was given to eat moderately and avoid irritations on the body as wise precautions to take in seeking to avoid the danger of becoming cancerous. On the first evidence of anything that might be suggestive of the disease, the advisability of having attention given was possible to eradicate what might otherwise develop into cancer if not attended to.

Many swellings were not cancerous, but it was wise to have these examined early by a medical man.

The diagnosis of cancer was not difficult in most cases, Dr. Hall continued, and the X-ray treatment had been found very valuable. The field for radium was widening all the time, and it appeared likely that as time went on greater knowledge would result in more successful combating of the dread disease of the present time.

The speaker was introduced by M. J. Little, who told of the excellent work done by Dr. Hall during the Great War when he served in a professional capacity at the front. A short address was added, on the request of the president, G. Hamilton Harman, by T. H. Leech, Minneapolis, who is divisional secretary of the Salvation Army for Minnesota and North Dakota. Mr.

Leech expressed his pleasure at visiting Victoria and his high esteem of the British people.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sittings

Rex (R) vs. Vincent Macchione (A)—This is an appeal by the accused from his conviction in June last when he was tried on a charge of murder.

It is alleged that the accused, who was a section man on the C.P.R., residing at Galloway, B.C., killed his friend, Michael Hudock, on the Fernie-Cranbrook highway near Fernie, on February 8, 1936. The deceased's body was found the following day, frozen stiff, on the bank of the Elk River. As a motive for the crime, the Crown brought evidence to show that the accused and the wife of the deceased had been on intimate terms, and he had suggested to her that she get a divorce in the United States. The deceased and his family had been on relief, and the accused helped them by bringing presents to the home. On the day of the crime he took the deceased and his family from their home in Michel to Fernie for the purpose of visiting the mother of the deceased, who was in hospital.

The accused has had three trials, and three times he has been sentenced to be hanged. Two of the trials have been as a result of appeals he has taken to the Court of Appeal. On this appeal his counsel claims the trial judge, Mr. Justice Murphy, failed to properly instruct the jury on the burden of proof and as to reasonable doubt. He also argues, as there were no eye-witnesses, the Crown could not make out a case against the accused if it were not for the evidence given by the widow of the deceased and her small child, but that such evidence shows so many discrepancies it should not be accepted.

C. Carmichael and J. A. Sutherland, for the appellant; L. H. Jackson, for the Crown, respondent.

THE BLOOD BANK

A story in a recent number of a popular magazine recorded a serious automobile accident in which the hero lost so much blood a blood transfusion was necessary to save his life. Unfortunately the donors (givers) of similar blood could not be obtained, and after considerable delay the nurse in attendance offered her blood as it was the right type and the hero's life was saved. The story ended in the usual happy way.

As a delay in obtaining the right type of blood in an emergency, and making sure also that the blood is free from syphilis, may mean the life of the patient, what is quite properly called a "blood bank" has been established at the Cook County Hospital, Chicago, by Dr. Bernard Fantus. The details as recorded in the Annals of Internal Medicine are:

Depositing blood. Staff physicians obtain from the laboratory pint flasks containing about two ounces of the preserving solution—sodium citrate. These flasks carry two test tubes for the collection of a small quantity of whole blood for the purpose of typing it and testing for syphilis. The blood is taken immediately to the laboratory.

Keeping the blood. The blood is filed away by the laboratory officials in the refrigerator, where it can be kept at proper temperature. The blood may thus be kept for a week or longer.

Drawing on the blood bank. When a patient needs a blood transfusion, a small quantity of his blood is

THE BLOOD BANK

Where blood is obtained for the bank. The main source of the blood to be kept in the blood bank is obtained from the healthy volunteer donor or giver.

The advantage of the blood bank over the previous method is that only one donor needs to be bled. Another point of advantage of the blood bank is that when a patient knows that he must undergo an operation (not an emergency operation) he can deposit one pint of blood in the bank a week or two before the operation and so have it ready should it be needed during or following his operation.

The bank can also "loan" blood. Anyone who owes his life to a blood transfusion can give blood to someone else in great need of blood.

"Hey, mister! Your engine's smoking!"

"Well, it's old enough."
